Hi

I live in hanborough close which is next to the a40 the road is already very busy.putting a village next to it is only going to make the traffic worse.all the changes that are supposed to be happening to the a40 will be a waste of time to then put 2,500 houses next to it.this piece of land seems the worse possible place to put a new village.eynsham is very busy & if the people from these houses need to come into eynsham for any reason that means even more cars & traffic trying to park to shop etc.not possible for people to work from the other side of the a40 with for instance heavy bags of shopping
Crazy idea that only going to make that area even more busy than it is now
