I strongly disagree with any further planning consents going ahead.

The council and their building partners never build any further infrastructure for the houses that are built, there are no extra doctors surgeries, no more schools are built to accommodate all the children who are going to move here. The lack of planning and drainage is a disaster.

We moved here because we like the countryside, we are now just sprawling into an urban area. The council need to think about looking after the residents in the area and providing appropriate services for local people.

It is bad enough that the roads are not fixed. If you have more houses you have more cars and you don't seem to have the money to resurface the roads let alone do a decent job of filling in all the pot holes.

It would be a very bad idea to put any further houses up in the area.
